

EVOLUTION

nestled between each fold of my trauma
is a version of me that has been
peeled off
my metamorphous self what remains at the core
is raw
yet natural, befitting
a darkening petal for every historic chapter a flower of evolution

Soumya Shashikumar
Ontario, Canada